The US government is not giving away free solar panels or paying people to go solar, no matter how many random and Facebook ads say otherwise. This scam is usually a ...

The promise of free solar panels is enticing, but understanding the details is critical. Most zero-cost offers come with long-term leases or contracts that limit your benefits.

In short, "free solar panels" aren't truly free, they shift the cost from an upfront payment to monthly obligations over time. Homeowners need to carefully evaluate these agreements to ensure ...

However, the federal government does not offer any programs for free home solar panel installations nor does the government require companies to grant solar panels for free to customers.

The Energy Department and the Solar Energy Technologies Office have warned consumers about this type of online scam involving solar panels. We rate this claim False.

While the government isn't offering free solar panels, it offers a tax credit that can be claimed on federal income taxes for those who use solar power on residential property.

There's no such thing as free solar panels or free government solar programs. Most "free" offers are actually leases, power purchase agreements, loans or scams.

While free solar panels may seem like a great deal, in almost every case we can think of, they aren't actually free.

"Free solar panels" aren't free; typically, these programs refer to solar leases or PPAs. The federal government does not provide free solar panels, but many states and utilities offer ...
