You need to add storage and batteries to the outpost in the editor. Other items can use those resources so if you put down flooring after the batteries went on, those reduce your power output.

From my experience, the larger battery (80 energy cap and 10 core power, eats 10 batteries to make) is a BP you can find in the city. But the BP for the bigger material storage requires ...

Find all the Blueprint locations in Outpost: Infinity Siege in this Guide. IF YOU ARE IN THE CORRECT LOCATION AND DO NOT SEE THE BLUEPRINT, RELOAD THE AREA BY ...

Advice on how to get more power in my base? I got some batteries but they only add +5 power. Do I just build a bunch of walls and stick these to them? Is there a bigger battery I can unlock?

Found the last 2 blueprint sets in the envoy base POI in city 4. And both the material storage and advanced autofeeder was part of those sets, among others. To anyone rushing those, ...

In addition to what's been mentioned so far, windows can mount a battery at the top and bottom. One is on the inside, one outside.

I highly recommend using taking a bunch of fuel with you and putting 10 or so small generators in your base for energy conversion purposes. If you take like 200 fuel with you, you can ...

Command Mobile Outpost and take Protoslag Gun to venture deep into the Signet surveillance off-limit area where dangers lurk in the dark. Collect unique Weapon Units.

While the pillars are nice to have, I am utilizing the generic walls (easier to integrate into most designs) for batteries and fill the space beneath with storage as to not waste volume.
