Howdy gang; Any input on how to remove nicks, scratches and wear marks from a stainless steel Ruger GP-100 DA revolver? My duty GPNY 4" .38spl fell on a...

I can't help you with the new model 82's. I have a 1992 stainless Taurus Model 82 that I picked up a few years ago for $180 at a local Cabelas. The fit and finish on the revolver are excellent ...

The Best Gun Forum on the Internet A forum for the discussion of thoughts, knowledge, and recent news events relating to the lawful defensive use of force by civilians to prevent injury or ...

Im looking for any input into whether or not the proper "breaking in" of a stainless steel barrel is necessary. Ive read both view points...what do you think? and if so what method do you ...

I am just curious if a stainless revolver will show signs of holster wear. It isn't important but just wondering if it can be polished out. Wear on a blued gun seems to add character to me.

S& W's stainless finishes have been horrendous, almost like a room full of monkeys with Brillo pads. Scratches go in all directions and it's up to users to polish the guns. S& W cuts corners ...

Stainless steel with enough carbon steel to be some what magnetic. I have one thats from 1984 and also is a fine shape.

And I believe it's a THIRD gen. Model 9 morphed into the 59 which took us to the 459/469. 4th gen included the 6904 and the stainless 6906 which we see in close up in Demolition ...

Stainless probably does a better job at that than both blued and nickel finishes. With a variety of economic pressures, I can only hazard a guess that the gun manufacturers have worked to ...
